Refund question still at sea

Waveland oysters sacked in red tape, Corps nixes Hancock transplant beds

by EDGAR PEREZ
With a $4 million sewerage system to her credit, the City of Waveland has become embarrassed over the stigma of polluted oyster reefs just off her shore line.

And Waveland officials are saying it just can't be true, that bacteria counts made by the State Board of Health must be out of date.

The Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission closed the Coleman Avenue reef prior to the opening of the oyster season in 1976, according to Ducre Bourgeois of Waveland, professional fisherman and commission member.

The commission action was taken on recommendation of the State Board of Health which reported the coliform bacteria count in waters over the reef were above the minimum standard.

The reef has remained closed, and Waveland officials are pushing to get it opened again before the oyster season expires at the end of April.

"We are all anxious to get it open," Bourgeois said. "There is an abundance of oysters on that reef."

The former Waveland alderman described the reef as being a mile long and half-mile wide, "and probably 100 years old."

He said some six barge-loads of clam shells were spread over the reef last May in time for the June and July spawning of the oysters.

"An oyster formed on a clam shell is usually a beautiful, single oyster," Bourgeois said in noting the potential of the closed reef.

"Four years ago when other areas were closed because of pollution, we had fishermen from as far away as Bayou LaBarte coming here for oysters," Bourgeois recalled, adding, "Waveland didn't even have a sewer system then."

That fact is what has Waveland officials puzzled about why the reef should be closed now, with a $4 million sewer system to keep from polluting the Sound's waters.

"Now that we've got a good sewerage system, we want all the benefits that go with it," said Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr.

"We don't want the adverse publicity that comes from having a reef closed because of polluted water," the mayor continued, "and we don't want the people to be deprived of harvesting their seafood."

Longo said he has been told by Health Department officials that the coliform count average from ten samples of the water must meet the minimum standard before the department will recommend the reef be opened.

The mayor said he answered a Health (OYSTERS - Page 4)

Bay duo holds athletic spotlight

Loiacano eyes MSU strength coach slot;

Rhodes named 77's second best amateur

By SHARON WALLS

Bay St. Louis native, J. E. Loiacano, former football coach at Bay High and recently named Mississippi High School Coach of the Year from Gulfport, is reportedly considering a position as strength coach at Mississippi State University.

Joseph "Doc" Rhodes, also of Bay St. Louis, a protégé of Loiacano, was also honored by the Mississippi Sportswriters Association last week when he was named second place in the selection of "Amateur Athlete of the Year." Only Ben Garry, USM running back from Pascagoula, polled more votes than Rhodes for the top honors.

Last December, the Mississippi Sportswriters Association named Loiacano High School Coach of the Year for his work with newly consolidated Gulfport, winners of the Big Eight Conference Championship. Loiacano was picked following the Admiral's defeat of Greenville, 27-14, to earn the top slot in the conference.

Coach Bob Tyler allegedly telephoned and discussed a post with the Admiral's coach. Loiacano said no definite job offer has been made, but he would be interested if such a position was made available to him.

Loiacano, a star fullback for St. Stanislaus, was named an All-American Junior College player during his years at Pearl River Junior College. The athlete went on to letter at Mississippi State as a running back and linebacker. After graduation, Loiacano played pro football with the Canton, Ohio Bulldogs as defensive captain for two years.

While working five years as football coach at Bay High, Loiacano, one of the most experienced weight coaches in Mississippi, trained young "Doc" Rhodes who went on to become the World AAU Champion weightlifter in the 165-pound class.

Rhodes, an alumnus of St. Stanislaus, started working with weights in his senior year. After attending Pearl River Junior College, Rhodes went to the University of Southern Mississippi where he won the 1969 National Collegiate Athletic Association title in competition at the University of Michigan at Lansing.

From this start, Rhodes went on to take both Junior and Senior National AAU titles in 1970. He reclaimed the senior title in competition in 1974. The athlete tallied two first place wins in the Pan American games in San Juan, Puerto Rico, in 1975 and again in Dallas in 1977.

In the 1974 Mississippi State Powerlifting Championships in Bay St. Louis, Rhodes lifted 1,600 pounds, an (RHODES - Page 2)

Engineers receive honors; NSTL activity links pair

Two engineers, serving in vastly different capacities, though both having ties to NASA-NSTL, have received recognition this week.

Vincent P. Caruso, son of Mrs. Margaret Caruso of Bay St. Louis, an engineer with several years experience in the Saturn and Space Shuttle space programs, has been assigned as NASA Marshall Space Flight Center's Solid Rocket Booster resident manager at Kennedy Space Flight Center, Florida.

Dr. Robert A. Baker, chief, Gulf Coast Hydroscience Center, at NASA-NSTL, has been named a director (1978-1980) of the Environmental Division of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AIChE), a national professional society with a total membership of over 40,000. He was installed during the group's recent annual meeting in New York City.

In his new assignment, Caruso will coordinate and direct the Solid Rocket Booster assembly and check-out activities for the Marshall Center.

Each Space Shuttle mission will utilize two of the boosters, which burn for two minutes, aiding the vehicles initial thrust requirement from launch to an altitude of approximately 27 miles. Following their burn, the boosters are jettisoned, parachuted into the ocean, and retrieved for refurbishment and reuse on subsequent flights.

Caruso, who holds an engineering degree from the University of Alabama (Class of 1951), began work at the Marshall Center in Dec. 1960. He has been senior project engineer in the solid booster project since 1973.

Hancock solon leads oil lease refund effort

The Mississippi House Ways and Means Committee is now in control of two pieces of mineral legislation of special significance to Hancock County.

Introduced by Hancock's Representative J. P. Compretta, one bill would return oil and gas rights leasing fees from 16th section lands back to county schools and the other would grant Hancock County a 15 percent return of the monies paid to the state in royalties on oil and gas pumped from lands leased by the state.

The State Mineral Lease Commission in September received $176,000 for oil and gas rights granted to Saga Petroleum Co. on 16th section lands in Hancock County.

The state agency has expressed a willingness to turn the money over to Hancock County for use in its schools in keeping with the provisions of 16th section law requiring that all revenue derived from those lands be dedicated to county schools.

But the commission feels it must be authorized by a specific law to turn the money back to the county, hence the Compretta bill.

"I don't see a problem after I explain what it's all about," Compretta said. "The purpose of 16th section land revenues is to put the money in our schools and we're in desperate need of money for our building projects."

The young legislator noted, however, the road ahead for the second bill may not be so clear.

In the past three years, the State Mineral Lease Commission has leased (OIL LEASES - Page 4) unofficial world's record. Official world's records may only be set in world events, according to AAU rules.

In all, the Bay St. Louis native has captured over 40 titles in the 165-pound class.

From his position at Bay High, Lotacano moved to Gulfport East where his football team finished 10-1. The next year, the Gulfport schools were consolidated and Lotacano was named head football coach of the combined teams.

Coach of the Year Lotacano took his top-ranked Admirals to the Championship with an 11-1 record for the season. The coach commented that weight-lifting was an integral part of training in his program or any other winning athletic regimen.

Currently, the coach is writing a book expounding his ideas on weight-lifting and strength programs based on his experiences at Gulfport and Bay High. He said that strength development is "a very demanding area and a vital part to any program."

Lotacano discounted earlier reports he had been offered a job as defensive line coach at State, saying that he and Tyler had not even discussed an on-the-field coaching position.

The coach said he hopes to hear more from State's athletic staff in the near future. He indicated he had talked to State for "quite a while" but nothing conclusive had been decided. The position is the type he admitted in which he "has been interested for several years."

Hancock led by only eight points at the half, 38-30, then moved ahead in the third quarter, scoring 19 points while the defense allowed only six for St. Martin. By the fourth period, with the score 57-36, Coach Roland Ladner was able to send in his second team for some playing experience.

Arcement pilots Hawks

By SHARON WALLS
Hancock North Central and Long Beach fought a long hard battle for a slot in the finals of the Bay High Invitational Basketball Tournament, a post the Hawks, led by Barry Arcement, claimed, 72-69, Friday night.

Dean Shaw put the Hawks on the board with a jump shot from just outside the lane in the first eight seconds of the game. North Central rolled up a quick eight points, but Long Beach kept right behind the Hawks. With 40 seconds left in the first quarter, a Long Beach field goal sent the Bearcats ahead 15-14. Barry Arcement sank a quick two points to recapture the lead for the Hawks, 18-17, at the end of the first period.

Alan Dedeaux opened the second quarter with two from the free throw line. Arcement widened the Hawk's lead, 22-17, with a field goal on a pass from Shaw. Long Beach took possession, but the Hawks slipped the ball away and Mark Ladner made the steal good for two. The Bearcats retaliated with two. Four goals and seven from the free throw line added up for Hancock with Long Beach matching the Hawks goal for goal. At the half, the Hawks were clinging to their lead, 39-36.

The Bearcats stormed up on the Hawks and momentarily took the lead 50-49 with two minutes to go in the third period. Two from Dedeaux and Arcement recaptured the Hawk advantage, 53-50. A field goal for the Bearcats brought them dangerously close to jumping out front, but Moses Hill sank two from the field and two more from the foul line to keep the Hawks ahead. Long Beach came back with a basket, but the buzzer sounded, before Hill could connect for Hancock.

Arcement began the final set with a field goal, followed by Hill with another basket. The Bearcats were right back again with a goal of their own. Arcement brought the ball down the court then handed off to Shaw who lobbed to Dedeaux in the corner for two, pushing the Hawks further out front 63-58. The combination of Arcement and Dedeaux netted two more baskets for the Hawks.

With nine seconds remaining before the final buzzer, Arcement stepped to the foul line to sink two out of two running up the score 71-67. The Bearcats were still scraping with a field goal by Daryl Savoy in the closing seconds, but in the chaos under the basket Arcement was fouled. Arcement was awarded a free shot after the buzzer to tally Hancock's final point.

Arcement led the attack for Hancock with nine field goals and three points from the foul line for 21 points. Dedeaux contributed seven goals and four free shots for 18. Mark Ladner added 12 points in five baskets and two foul shots.

Arcement also led with nine assists and seven rebounds. Mark Ladner had four assists. Dedeaux and Shaw had three assists each while Dedeaux grabbed six rebounds. Hancock North Central meets Harrison Central in an evenly matched play-off Saturday night in the Tiger dome.

Hawkettes, Lady Pirates square off

The Bay High Invitational Tournament got underway with thunder as the Hawkettes of Hancock North Central rolled over St. Martin's girls, 68-16, Wednesday in the Tigerdome.

In the second game of the day, Pass Christian's Lady Pirates bested the host Tigerettes, 42-28.

The Hawkettes were undisputed leaders by the end of the first period at 22-6. St. Martin did not score more than four points in any of the next three quarters, while Hancock rolled up 17, 20 and nine, respectively.

Janet Ladner sank 19 points for the Hawkettes, followed by Sherie Ladner with 15.

The Lady Pirates pulled away from a close 3-2 first quarter to out score the Tigerettes in every quarter except the final period in which Bay High scored 14 to Pass High's 12.

Theresa Cannon and June Ward contributed 10 points each for the victorious Lady Pirates. Tigerette Karen Fricke was high scorer in the game with 16.

We can't win for losing

Last week we received good news. The State Legislature had approved the removal of a five percent state tax on utility bills. The bill was co-authored by Representative J. P. Compretta of Hancock County.

This was good news to all, because everyone pays some type of utility bills. Our Representative should be congratulated on a job well done.

This week, the residents of Bay St. Louis were jolted with a 9.5 percent natural gas hike. So, it looks like we, the consumer, lost again.

Well, we can all say we are pleased with our President's State of the Union message Thursday, especially the part about the income tax cut, for most Americans.

We wonder just what will go up to erase that one.

Bay, Pass municipal schools face consolidation under pending bill

A consolidation bill filed in the Legislature by House Education Committee Chairman Robert Clark of Ebenezer would merge the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School System with the Hancock County School District.

The bill seeks to improve curriculum and reduce administrative costs by eliminating at least 33 of Mississippi's 152 school districts.

Clark's bill would reorganize all existing school districts into county districts, allowing separate operation only for municipal districts with an average daily attendance of more than 3,000.

The State Superintendent of Education's annual report for the 1976-1977 school year lists the average daily attendance for Bay Municipal schools at 1,811.

The average daily attendance for Bay Municipal schools in December, 1977, was 1,892, according to Superintendent J. D. McCullough.

The average daily attendance at Hancock County schools, according to the report, was 1,750.

Under Clark's bill, therefore, the two

Wagner reappointed to Gulf Regional PC

Fred Wagner of Bay St. Louis, has this week been reelected vice chairman of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission (GRPC).

Wagner, an architect, also serves as an alderman on the Bay St. Louis City Council.

Jon Bennett of Jackson County was reelected as president of GRPC, a position he has held for the last two years. He is also chairman of the Jackson County Planning Commission.

The other officer reelected at the GRPC annual meeting, was Milton Hill, a Gulfport architect, as secretary-treasurer.

The commission is composed of nine members, three each appointed by the boards of supervisors of Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson Counties, the participating political entities.

The two other Hancock County commissioners are: John Scaffide, and Dan Fredericks.

The Harrison County supervisors this week appointed Dave Johnson, owner of Dave Johnson Realty in Biloxi, to replace Gene Warr whose term has expired.

GRPC was created in 1964 by the Mississippi Legislature and was activated in 1965.

The agency has 17 staff members in Gulfport and a planner-coordinator in each of the three member counties.

systems would be consolidated into one.

Also with an average daily attendance below the minimum for separate districts under terms of Clark's bill is the Pass Christian Municipal Separate School District with 1,375.

Another provision of the bill requires a school system which meets the minimum 3,000 to receive approval from the county school board for separate operation.

At present, some counties have as many as six school districts, with the last major reorganization having been in 1953 when districts were reduced in number from 1,500 to 150.

Clark said small districts should be eliminated because they are unable to

Oysters... (Continued from Page 1)

Department request Friday for up-to-date information on structures not tied into the city's sewerage system.

He said only six are not on the sewerage lines, and of those, one is the post office which has a cess pool, another is the Krewe of Triton-Den which has no water supply, and a third is an abandoned dwelling.

"We just do not understand how these waters can be polluted," Longo stated.

"I saw a Health Department report last month which showed the water off Waveland to be the cleanest in the entire Mississippi Sound," he pointed out.

The mayor said he can understand why the water quality standards for oysters must necessarily be high, "since an oyster can't move like most other seafood, and such a large percentage is eaten raw, the chances of getting hepatitis is not something to be taken lightly."

He said the Waveland water now is clean enough for swimming.

Longo and Bourgeois both emphasized, however, that they are not in any way pushing for oysters to be taken from polluted waters.

"I just don't believe this water can be polluted if the rest of the Sound is ok," Longo remarked.

"How can Waveland have a $4 million sewerage plant and have polluted water when there was no objection to fishing this reef when the city had no sewerage?" queried Lucien M. Gex Jr., Waveland city attorney and also attorney for the MMCC.

"They're tonging in other places where the water is not as good as ours," Gex stated.

"They're tonging in Bay St. Louis waters right up to the city limit-

oil and gas rights to hundreds of thousands of acres in Hancock County, most of it to Saga Petroleum which often bids seven times higher than the next highest bidder.

Saga officials estimated in November, 1976, that their company has leased oil and gas rights under 440,000 publicly-owned acres in South Mississippi during the previous two years.

The state's general fund now gets all the proceeds of productive leases. Compretta noted that Hancock County has no control or input as to who is allowed to drill, "and we're having to accommodate these people coming into our county."

"They're coming in with big equipment, using our roads and the supervisors have to keep up the roads," Compretta pointed out. "The people in our county are going to have to bear the burden," he added.

"Once this money gets back to the state treasury, it's lost," Compretta stated.

Compretta noted his bill could be amended to allow the 15 percent reimbursement to any county where the state permits oil and gas drilling.

He estimated such an amendment would bring in 38 to 40 counties, making it easier to gain necessary support in the Legislature.

In related energy matters, the Legislature will consider a package of bills designed to encourage conservation by setting standards and granting tax credits.

Representative Bob Ferguson of Raymond, chairman of the House Public Utilities Committee, said last week he has introduced bills, which if passed, would:

-Grant state income tax credit on the amortized cost of solar energy equipment.

-Grant up to $200 state income tax credit for weatherizing residences with insulation and other energy saving materials.

-Require energy conservation standards for state buildings.

-Require minimum mileage standards for state owned vehicles.

-Create a state energy resources advisory council to coordinate and plan energy policies in the state.

"These bills, if passed, will start our state in the right direction," Ferguson said, "to help cut the spiraling energy costs that our citizens are having to absorb."

"There is no final, dramatic answer to our energy problems at this time, but we must continue to work to see that our citizens are getting full value for their utility dollars and to assure a continuous supply of energy for our homes, businesses, farms and industries in our state," the utility committee chairman said.

Also dealing with energy supplies, Bill Maddox, chief of the governor's Fuel and Energy Management Commission, said last week Mississippi is not at this time faced with a threat of fuel shortages.

"Of course, severe weather or demands from other parts of the country could change the picture," Maddox stated.

Lacking serious crises, Maddox reported, his office is concentrating on federal programs to reduce fuel consumption and maintain a flow of federal conservation money into the state.

"We have already met one of the gasoline conservation program requirements with legislation allowing vehicles to make a right turn after stopping at a traffic signal," Maddox said, noting minor points such as that measure save thousands of gallons of gasoline every year.

Maddox said two measures pending before the 1978 Legislature would establish building codes designed to ensure more efficient lighting and heating of new buildings.

He said his office has contracted with development firms to handle other federal programs such as promoting car and van pools to reduce gasoline consumption.

Federal funds are available for a number of optional conservation steps, Maddox pointed out, including the inspection of public schools followed by suggestions on ways to cut back energy consumption.

Pass Pirates Fall to Harrison Central Boys

The Pass Christian Pirates scored more often from the free throw line than from the field in their 84-55 loss to the Harrison Central Red Rebels in semi-final play Friday in the Tigerdome.

The Pirates stepped to the line for 24 points as Harrison drew foul after foul in the fast paced action. The Red Rebels were charged with 25 fouls as a team, although no single player fouled out.

Harrison's tough defense under the goal forced Pass Christian to shoot from way out and knocked out the threat from the Pirates' normally high scoring players.

The Rebels held Cullen Swanier to three field goals, but Swanier sank nine from the free throw line to lead the Pirates scoring with 15 points.

John Whittman was held to four goals and five free shots for 13.

The Rebelettes completed 27 field goals and 11 free shots as opposed to 16 goals and 13 free throws for Long Beach.

D'Iberville's Winterstein piled up 36 points for the Warriorettes in their victory over Ocean Springs. Ocean Springs dropped behind 30-19 at the half, but were down by 21 points in the final.

Donna Jones,

Our Certificates may be obtained in any multiple of $1,000. If you'd like to know how much interest you could earn on a Certificate not shown below, just call me at 864-4342. Ask for Donna Jones. I'll be happy to give you personal attention on all your savings questions.

If you'd like to earn maximum interest on your savings, now's a good time to start. Invest in a 4 or 6-year Certificate from Southern Savings.

SAVINGS AMOUNT	INTEREST EARNED 4 YEARS 7.50%	INTEREST EARNED 6 YEARS 7.75%
$ 1,000.00	$ 346.11	$ 584.95

If monthly or quarterly interest checks are mailed to you, the total interest earned at expiration will be somewhat less.

A severe interest penalty is required by law for early withdrawal on Certificate accounts.

Red Rebelettes hunt Hawkettes in final

Harrison Central's girls were hunting their second victory over the Hancock North Central Hawkettes when the two clashed in the final chapter of the Bay High Invitational Tourney Saturday.

The Red Rebelettes polished off the Warriorettes of d'Iberville 42-36 in semi-final play while Hancock's girls recouped last week's loss to the Pass Christian Lady Pirates with a 54-38 victory Friday to claim a spot in the finals.

Harrison Central netted 17 field goals and eight free shots to take a narrow six point victory over d'Iberville. Carolyn Graham racked up 10 points for the Rebelettes, but d'Iberville's Sherry Winterstein was the game scorer with 13 points.

In their fourth square-off against Pass High, Shaynon Ladner paced the Hancock girls with 19 points supported by 14 from Joyce Nell Lee. The tall Hancock goal defenders held inside shooting to a minimum, but Robin Roberts was able to rely on her outside shooting for nine field goals to tie HNC's Ladner for game high scorer with 19 points. Theresa Cannon contributed 10 more for Pass High. Shaynon Ladner grabbed 12 rebounds under the net, while Shelley Dedeaux is credited with four steals and for assists.

Home duty tours now to 3 years

Minimum tours of duty for service members in the continental U.S. will be three years as a result of the latest directive published recently by the Department of Defense. The purpose of the new order is to reduce permanent change-of-station travel by keeping people in place longer.

More than 14,000 people were transferred to Keesler in 1977, according to Technical Sergeant Lemial Varner of Keesler's manning control office.

When asked how the new three-year minimum base residency requirement will affect the military member, Sergeant Varner, who has been at Keesler since 1974, stated that people should simply expect to be staying longer at their new base of assignment.

Previously people could expect to be a stateside base up to 18 months. Then in March 1977 it was changed to two years.

Even with the new three-year minimum base residency requirement, Air Force officials said that some exceptions to this directive will be necessary based on the needs of the military.

PLAN FOR A FAMILY FIRE ESCAPE

There are several things which you can do to help your family in case of fire. Everyone should be familiar with these things in case it ever happened to you.

An overall plan should be discussed with each family member. Draw a floor plan of your home and map out an escape route for each room, plus an alternate. Make sure each family member understands the plan and know how to call the fire department.

Closed doors hold back flames and smoke. Keep doors, especially bedrooms and stairways, closed at night. If you suspect a fire, before opening a closed door, touch the door with the back of your hand to see if it is hot.

Learn how to remove screens and storm windows quickly. If necessary, use a chair to break the glass out of the window. Use a shoe or a chair leg to clean the remaining glass out of window frame. Put a blanket over the window frame edge to prevent injury.

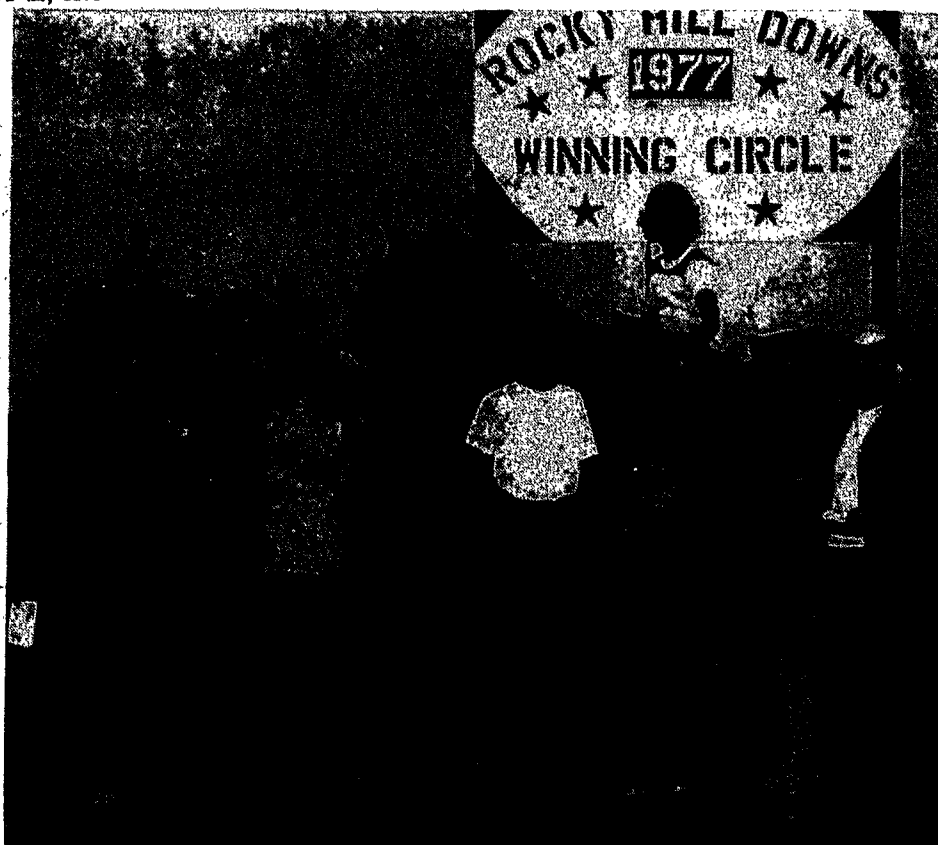

Learn how to go out a window. Throw a leg over the sill; then back out. Never go out head first! Take refuge on a deck or porch roof if possible. Wait for rescue. Never count on using the stairs or hall.

Learn how to drop from a window. From an upper floor, drop only as a last resort. Make sure the ground is clear of obstacles. Back out of the window. Hang from the sill with your hands; then drop to the ground. Practice this from ground floor windows during the drill.

Plan ahead for the escape of the aged, infants and invalids. Many should not be moved from their rooms if it would compound danger. Depending on the individual situation, it might be better for them to remain in their rooms until firemen can rescue them. In such cases, the door to the room should be kept closed, and the window open to allow fresh air to enter. The best way to remove an infant from a burning building, if access to his room is cut off, might be through a window from the outside. These are situations that the family should plan for ahead of time.

Plan your escape route. Plan what assistance is needed. Practice using the planned escape routes.

Decide on a meeting place, outside, where all family members can gather. Never go back into a burning building after you have left it! Remember - things look completely different in a smoke-filled room. Smoke and toxic gases are killers, get everyone out of the house before calling the fire department. However, do not delay in calling them. Only very small fires should be fought with an extinguisher.

The Rocky Hill Rambler

Hi ya'll,
The best news this week from the Hills is that all our streets are still visible. Considering all the snow storms all around us we feel lucky.

Mrs. Jerry Diez's nephew, Taufiq-Kkaled from Palestine, via Baton Rouge, brought his wife, the former finna Honeycutt and children to see us. We sure enjoyed their visit.

Judy and Larry Farve gave his new truck a good tryout with a trip to visit Larry's family. Mr. and Mrs. Lea Soark at Natchez last week.

Happy birthday to Mary Lee Lader.

We're sure Darlene Lancaster was lonesome this past week with hubby Eddie way up in Memphis, Tenn. taking in some more schooling in Electronics.

Peggy Saucier and brother, Rodney, told us they enjoyed the bible class held last week at the home of Muriel and Darfus Martin.

Happy birthday to both Mr. and Mrs. Agnel Moran. The best present they received was news that their grandson, eight year old Darrel Moran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moran, will be all right after spending a few days in the hospital following an auto accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Felds stopped by on their way back, to New Orleans from Strasburg, Ohio, with the latest weather report. Jerry told us there is 12-inches of snow in Louisville, Ky., and they were expecting eight inches more. Also with only two snow plows they had to call in the National Guard. Even with all that snow, Jerry enjoyed her visit with her 84 year old father, Martin Stengel, and sisters and brothers.

We spoke with Junior Hopkins and Faye Sanders with J. Kirk Johnson Construction this week. They told us the weather holds out they should finish laying 20 platforms by June.

According to Clyde McClendon of Poplarville, one of the chiefs with Zackery Construction there will be a big demand for electricians, pipe fitters, and welders. Clyde told us they have 750 people employed and Dupont should double that within the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ray Lader had dinner guests the other night, their brother Billy Wagner and Miss Linda Strahan of Poplarville.

Looks like our Coach Roland Lader of North Central will be taking our Hawks out of town next week to play in the Superdome. Good luck, Coach and Hawks.

See you at church or the races,
Gweny

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

WEATHER SUMMARY:

Warm temperatures prevailed most of the weekend before a cold front moved through late Sunday with cold temperatures for the rest of the week. Precipitation occurred Sunday and toward the end of the week. Temperatures averaged from 6 degrees below normal in the South Central section to 12 degrees below normal in the Upper Delta. The coldest reading was 10 degrees at Ripley on the 9th and 10th and the warmest was 76 degrees at Port Gibson on the 7th. All sections averaged from 1 to 1 1/2 inches of rain. and cool temperatures continued. Precipitation was very light. Some warming occurred on Monday with precipitation heavier.

CROP SUMMARY: Farmers major activity was feeding and caring for livestock this past week. Farmers spent the rest of their time repairing machinery and planning for 1978.

Soil moisture supplies were surplus to excessive. An average of 0.6 days was suitable for field work compared to 1.9 days last week and 0.6 days for the same week last year.

Winter wheat and oats were in fair condition. Livestock were in fair condition. Hay and roughage feed supplies were adequate, with other feed grain supplies stored on farms adequate to short.

"COMMENTS"

TALLAHATCHIE CO. "Rain, sleet, ice, snow, and cold weather prevented any outside work except livestock feeding. Farm planning is biggest item of business."

CALHOUN CO. "Cloudy, cold weather with a small amount of sleet, snow and rain dominated the weather scene in Calhoun County this week. This kind of weather rough on cattle."

DE SOTO CO. "We are coated with a layer of ice. Only shopwork and farm planning can be done."

LAMAR CO. "Feeding a lot of hay during this cold weather. I'm glad farmers have plenty of hay to feed."

HANCOCK CO. "Field too wet for fieldwork. Winter pastures are getting short. Cold weather slowing down growth. Cattle feeding has been going on throughout most of the county to supplement grazing."

SPRING HORTICULTURE MEETING

There will be a spring Horticulture Meeting to help homeowners start planning and making preparations for planting home gardens, landscaping and beautification around their home.

This meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m., Friday, Feb. 3, in the Extension Auditorium, Agriculture Center Building, 405 Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis. The program will consist of discussing home gardening, citrus fruit growing, home greenhouses and house plants, lawn care and management, also common diseases and their control on vegetables and ornamentals.

I encourage you to make plans and attend this meeting as you will receive valuable information to assist you with your home garden and house plants.

LIMING AND FERTILIZING PONDS

Most farmers and landowners know the benefits of liming and fertilizing soil, but lime and fertilizer are also helpful in fish ponds. Research has shown that liming acid ponds increases the pH of the water and mud. This improves the response of plankton to fertilizer and increases fish production.

If your pond water is clear and your fish growth is poor, your pond may need lime. To sample a pond, remove mud from several places in the pond. Mix the soil well, dry and send to the State Soil Testing Laboratory for analysis. Contact your county Extension Office for full details on taking soil samples from ponds.

STORED VEGETABLES

Now is a good time to check your stored vegetable supplies. Since Mississippi's coldest temperatures often occur in January, it's important to protect stored vegetables from freezing. Remove any items showing signs of deterioration when checking stored vegetable supplies.

PLANTING SEEDLINGS

How a tree seedling is planted has a lot to do with whether it survives. Seedlings should be planted in holes large enough to allow the roots to spread out. Also, try to plant the seedlings at about the same depth they grew in the nursery.

Pack the soil firmly around the roots to prevent air pockets that can kill the seedlings. Recommended spacing is seven feet apart on rows spaced eight or nine feet apart. Protect newly planted seedlings from damage by livestock.

HOG FEED

Feeding molded grain to hogs can cause problems for hog producers. Molded grain can cause abnormal cycles and conception rates in sows and gilts. Some molds can also cause a reduction in litter size and pig vitality at birth.

It's hard to identify harmful and non-harmful mold on grain. So, if you have grain that contains mold or fungus, feed it to your finishing hogs. Don't take a chance with your breeding stock.

CROP SUMMARY

RELEASED
January 18, 1978

MISSISSIPPI

SOYBEANS: Soybean production in 1977 is estimated at 74,825,000 bushels, a record high. Yield per acre averaged 20.5 bushels. The acreage planted to soybeans in 1977 was 3,750,000 acres, with an estimated 3,650,000 acres harvested for beans.

CORN: The production of corn for grain in 1977 is estimated at 5,760,000 bushels. Acreage harvested for grain is estimated at 160,000 acres. The yield per acre averaged 36.0 bushels, the lowest yield since 1970 when the average yield was 28.0 bushels per acre. Corn cut for silage is estimated at 60,000 acres, with an average yield per acre of 11.0 tons. Total silage production amounted to 660,000 tons.

RICE: Rice production in 1977 totaled an estimated 4,440,000 hundredweight. "Long grain" rice accounted for 4,360,000 cwt.; and "medium grain" for 80,000 cwt. Total harvested acreage is estimated at 111,000 acres, consisting of 109,000 acres of "long grain," and 2,000 acres of "medium grain." Yield per acre for the entire 1977 crop averaged 4,000 pounds. SORGHUM: The 1977 production of sorghum grain is estimated at 768,000 bushels. Acreage harvested for grain is 24,000 acres, and the yield per acre averaged 32.0 bushels. Sorghum cut for silage totaled an estimated 27,000 acres, with a total production of 338,000 tons.

WINTER WHEAT: Winter wheat production for 1977 was estimated at 3,570,000 bushels, and was harvested from an estimated 105,000 acres. The 1978 seeded acreage is estimated at 100,000 acres.

UNITED STATES

The 1977 cotton production is estimated at 14,496,000 bales, or 37 percent above 1976. Soybean production in 1977 is estimated at 1,716,334,000 bushels, a record high, 33 percent above 1976. Corn for grain production is estimated at a record high of 6,357,424,000 bushels, 1.5 percent above 1976. Sorghum grain production in 1977 totaled an estimated 790,647,000 bushels, up 10 percent from 1976. Rice production for 1977 is estimated at 99,223,000 hundredweight, 14 percent less than 1976. All hay production is estimated at 131,057,000, 9 percent above 1976.

Grazing cattle need supplement

Most cattle in the state are now on frosted grass or crop residue that contains insufficient amount of protein and should be receiving a protein supplement.

"Harvesting forage feeding should begin early before cattle lose their good summer condition," says R. O. Buckley, livestock specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "Frosted grass and crop residue will contain some food value. However, it will soon lose its food value due to leaching and being stomped. Cattle should be placed on harvested forage no later than the first of January, and earlier if possible."

Dry cattle will ordinarily need about 20 pounds of grass hay in addition to about one and a half pounds of 40 percent protein supplement.

Separate wet cows from the rest of the herd and increase their protein supplement by about 75 percent.

Farming's Electronic Monitors

Electronic monitors are examples of space-age scientific innovations finding practical use down on the farm.

Donald Ardis, a dairyman near Lake City, MI., found quite a bit of wire mixed in his hay crop when he harvested a field where he had torn down a fence. An electronic metal detector on his forage harvester found the wire and prevented its entry into the hay, where it could have caused costly hardware disease in his dairy herd.

Combines are equipped with electronic monitors to automatically keep them operating at top efficiency. Electronics also permit the operation of equipment from inside closed tractor cabs.

FIXTURE CLEANING

The popularity of fiberglass shower and bathtub modules is increasing. Good bathroom fixtures last a long time, but how long depends on the kind of housekeeper you are. Abrasive cleansers and bleaches ruin more bathrooms than anything else according to fixture manufacturers.

Two methods for cleaning have been suggested: Use baby oil! Then use a good quality tub and tile cleaner. Baby oil really is good for a number of purposes.

The other suggestion: One manufacturer suggests for normal cleaning that a liquid or spray type detergent be used. Any of the better brands on the market should be satisfactory.

Stubborn stains, paint or tar can be removed by first using turpentine or paint thinner, then using the appropriate cleaner. Lime deposits can be removed with vinegar-water solution.

Do not use abrasive cleansers, metal scrapers, wire brushes or other metal tools.

Fiberglass surfaces that are dull or have accumulations not removed by the above suggestions can be restored by rubbing with an automotive type body cleaning compound.

Follow with an application of an automotive type wax.

Periodic waxing of the unit will make future cleaning easier.

Ag Affairs

by Ed Blake

"Mississippi farm income currently is at the lowest level since the depression years of the 1930's," Hugh Arant, president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, said in a news statement Tuesday, "and farmers in all areas of the state are torn between short-range survival decisions and long range ones."

The federation president added, "We are in complete sympathy with the farmers from Mississippi and nation who are in Washington today pleading their case before congressmen and anyone else in authority that might be able to help them."

"Yet, it is very important that farmers weigh carefully what they are willing to compromise for. What is at stake here is the most basic philosophy of American business. The American free enterprise system is based on the law of supply and demand, and currently the farm commodity supply exceeds demand and prices have dropped until this situation corrects itself."

"A lot of farmers are asking that the government step in and take control and correct it by law and increased government control and supervision. The alternative is to let the economic factors follow the law of supply and demand for another year or so and maintain the free or private enterprise philosophy toward agriculture."

"What hurts is, for the law of supply and demand to adjust, it will mean a protracted period of time and some farmers can't hold out that long and some may have to switch to other vocations or else we all become wards of the government as agricultural producers."

"Some are talking of striking and this is not new talk but so far it simply has never been possible for agriculture to strike. All this is a matter of history. Strikes and withholding of farm commodities have been advocated during periods of farm income crisis for over a hundred years, yet this approach has simply never worked."

"We regret very much that we as the largest farm organization in the world representing four out of every five organized farmers in the United States cannot perform some magic to instantly get agriculture back on its feet, but we can't."

"Farm Bureau cannot advocate a strike for three reasons. First, our organization would violate antitrust laws if we legally endorsed any form of agreement or understanding which limits the marketing of commodities or controls their prices. Second, our official policy adopted by our voting delegates calls for action in the marketplace as the soundest approach, and three, strikes are not feasible for a biological industry."

"Our American Farm Bureau delegates last week in Houston, Texas, went on record nationwide stating that we, the AFBF, will do the following:

"(1) Work to expand agricultural exports and market demand.

"(2) Develop marketing organizations and programs to improve net income.

"(3) Seek emergency agricultural credit to assist deserving farmers to meet the current emergency.

"(4) Urge Congress and the Administration to control inflation and change regulations which add costs to farm production."

"Farm Bureau's position differs from some of the current action-philosophy of asking for 100 percent of parity because we know from experience that the money would have to come from the taxpayers to pay the farmers and the high subsidy would cause us to lose our competitive position in world markets into which one out of three acres of U. S. farm production moves."

"Our solution is economically sound, but in the meantime we must extend credit and bring about a crash program to reduce totally unworkable high production costs. The markets will come because the world market continues to grow along with the population. Unfortunately, this problem did not occur overnight, and it cannot be corrected overnight."

Production problems, pests, are on soybean day program

Hancock County soybean producers will join their opposite numbers from throughout the state tomorrow at the 14th Annual Soybean Day, sponsored by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Services (MCES), and the Mississippi Soybean Association (MSA).

Registration will get under way at 8:30 a.m. in the Extension Conference Center at Mississippi State University.

"Program emphasis this year will be on the soybean outlook at state, national and international levels," announced Dr. Wayne Jordan, MCES agronomist. "Key production problems will also be discussed along with possible solutions."

Featured speaker will be Congressman David Bowen. Congressman Bowen serves on the House Agricultural Committee and has frequently championed the cause for soybeans.

Another principal speaker will be Walt Buescher, who combines humor with a serious message while discussing major contributions of agriculture to the American way of life.

Buescher has more than 30 years of service in the farm equipment industry and was named marketing Man-of-the-Year by the National Agri-Marketing Association in 1974.

Dr. E.E. Hartwig, USDA

soybean breeder, who has worked in developing all major soybean varieties in the southern United States, will discuss the development and usage of pest resistant varieties.

Other production topics include a review of the soybean insect situation by Dr. Lavonne Lambert, MCES entomologist, and soybean irrigation by Ruel Nester, Extension soybean agronomist from Arkansas.

Dr. R. L. Williams, MCES economist, will speak on soybean outlook, production costs and returns.

Other features of the meeting will be a report on the one-cent per bushel check-off by Tol Thomas III of Cruger, chairman of the Mississippi Soybean Promotion Board; a report of American Soybean Association (ASA) activities by Jeff Gaines, ASA staff, Hudson, Iowa, and the annual MSA business meeting presided over by Ralph Weems Jr. of West Point.

AARP program seeks tax aide volunteers

The Waveland section of the nationwide Tax-Aide Program is recruiting volunteers to serve as tax consultants to older persons prior to the 1978 federal income tax deadline April 15.

A community service of the American Association of Retired Persons, the Tax-Aide Program provides free income tax advice to older taxpayers.

David A. LosCalzo of Waveland, program coordinator, said volunteers "should have a sincere interest in serving older adults and have some general knowledge of tax matters."

"They should also be willing to attend an Internal Revenue Service training course and agree to devote at least four hours each week to tax counseling," he added.

LosCalzo noted volunteers need not be members of AARP, but "should be older persons since a unique feature of Tax-Aide Program is an emphasis on peer group assistance."

The IRS training course for volunteers is scheduled for Thursday. The program will offer assistance on tax matters to older persons between Feb. 15 and Apr. 15 at locations to be announced later.

Anyone interested in further information on the program or in serving as a volunteer should contact LosCalzo at 508 Turner St., Waveland, 39576, or call 467-6835.

Public officials and employees in 10 Southwest Mississippi counties will get help in planning strategies to deal with local problems through a program developed for the Southwest Mississippi Planning and Development District by The University of Mississippi.

THE OLE PASTOR SAYS...

DEBTS CAN BE DANGEROUS, even destructive to our lives. This is true whether necessary or otherwise. It has been said that Debt, Dirt and the Devil are related. Like so many others, I know what it means to have financial obligations. But I have never incurred a debt that I felt comfortable with. I could never be at ease until that obligation was satisfied. We are caught up in a system which almost makes financial obligations a necessary evil. No Christian should ever make an unnecessary debt. The Scriptures present the most pleasant and prudent view: "Owe no man any thing, but to love one another..." (Rom. 13:8). Again, in language equally as strong: "Providing for honest things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men" (II Cor. 8:21).

I realize that credit and debt is very much a part of the American way of life. Government is the chief of sinners, setting the tragic example with staggering obligations which they know shall never be paid. When a man endeavors to live within his means - makes an effort to kinda pay as he goes, he is viewed as a curiosity, and a caterer to outmoded methods of a by-gone era. The "wheeler-dealers, go-getters" and "loan companies" would look with condescending pity on any poor square with ideas and philosophies so out of step with progress.

As necessary as some indebtedness surely is, too many financial obligations are born of greed and covetous desires to have things we could as well, if not better, do without. Sometimes it is simply a matter of "keeping up with the Joneses." Young families should try to avoid such deceitful and destructive pitfalls.

Prolonged and overwhelming debt often destroys the happiness and harmony of the home. Remember, you cannot buy happiness nor Christian character. These unhappy and unpleasant situations will frazzle nerves, create ill-temper, and generate family feuds. Nagging debts never allow the mind to be at ease.

Obviously, there are those who make debts with little, if any, intention to paying them. This reflects innate and overt dishonesty with a lack of desire to cultivate any semblance of Christian character.

The Bible declares that "a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold" (Prov. 22:1). My father was not unaware of human foibles, including his own, but his person and his word was respected by those who knew him. He was a poor man, familiar with hard work and the burden of debt. But he never dodged his obligations. He was some times embarrassed, but never without the courage and will to face up to his commitments. There may be times when a man cannot meet his obligations; but there should never be a time nor situation when he would refuse to face up to his word. I was taught by my parents that if I said I could be, at a certain place on Monday at ten o'clock, that didn't mean Tuesday at eleven.

The only thing of real value my father left his nine children was a legacy of honesty and moral integrity. Being honest and a man of your word is both an economic as well as a moral asset. - L. S. Walker

"If I could give advice to a sixth grader..."

By Florence Robbins Pass Christian Library Volunteer

"If I could give a sixth grader only one piece of advice, it would be - Read." Why a sixth grader we don't know. It would be our gift to any grade. But our child was a sixth grader when her adoption papers went through and one of our legacies to her by precept and example was exactly that: "Read."

She and her husband, our grandson and his wife spent Christmas holidays with us. Peter, a student who has just completed a college course in the history of Egypt, was more interested in Tut than in visiting grandparents, we are sure. But we prepared the turkey and the shrimp in anticipation. As a matter of course we prepared the library table with: Two histories of Pass Christian, The Golden Coast and Queen New Orleans both by Harnett Kane, Romantic New Orleans by Deirdre Stanford, Hooked on Books by Daniel Fader.

At two and a half hours around our living room during their stay and see six adults with their noses in a book. That was characteristic of this family for three generations. It brought back memories of a little sixth grader bringing home armfuls of books from the library and going shopping, not just for a new dress but into Hartford's old book stores for a copy of "Anne of Green Gables," out of print then but now out in a newer edition. We read recently that one of the most popular books for young Canadians is "Anne of Green Gables" by Montgomery. It was first printed in 1909!

A truly good juvenile "never grows old" and, appeals to grown-ups as well as children. We find this is true in the reading hour at Miramar and we'll read to the chapter in which Anne dyes her red hair green. They loved Tom Sawyer getting the fence white-washed recently. We asked Peter how he liked "The Hobbit" on tv. He was the one who got his grandmother hooked on Tolkien and that was a fun discussion, too. Both grandson and grandmother are waiting to read the latest Tolkien "Silmarillion"; she, until the waiting list at the library is shorter and he until it comes out in paperback.

"In every library can be found a wealth of knowledge and pleasure. The wonder of the ages, the best that has been thought and felt and said awaits you. Sample it. Read for fun, for pleasure, for information."

Read for fun: "Can you Make them Behave" by Jean Krutz with its humorous drawings.

Read for pleasure: "The Enormous Egg" by But-

Hancock driver's license exam available weekly at Bay office

By Edgar Perez

The Mississippi Highway Patrol's Hancock County driver's license examination office is open in Bay St. Louis every Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

The station is located in the county civil defense office at the corner of Booker Street and Old Spanish Trail.

Patrolman Charles W. Smith of Poplarville, examining officer at the Bay bureau, said while road tests for applicants seeking their first license may be given anytime during the bureau hours, he tries to limit road tests to the afternoon hours.

Applicants seeking their first license are the only ones required to take the road test, Smith pointed out.

Persons holding valid out-of-state licenses applying for a current Mississippi license and those with expired licenses are required to take a 40-question written test.

Persons wishing to renew current Mississippi licenses should receive a renewal application from the bureau

Smith said the road test is based primarily on the driver's ability to handle the car. Applicants must also be able to parallel park and demonstrate proficiency in handling the car at intersections with stop signs and signals.

The examiner noted that virtually no one takes the driver's road test in a standard shift vehicle. "They all make it a point to bring an automatic transmission vehicle to be tested in," Smith said.

The written test is a two-part, multiple choice examination with 20 questions taken from the Mississippi Driver's Manual which can be obtained free at the examining station, county sheriff's office and most police stations.

Another 20 questions, also based on information found in the manual, deal with visual identification of signs and symbols found on streets and highways.

License applicants must also complete an application card which includes a section on the driver's past record of violations and accidents.

Applicants are also asked to furnish a social security card and previous driver's license or birth certificate, Smith noted.

Minimum age, with one exception, for any driver's license is 15. The examiner said a 14-year-old student in a recognized driver's education class may obtain a learner's permit good for driving only while under supervision in course vehicle.

Smith emphasized that motorcycle drivers must have a standard and this must be at least 15-years old.

"There is no special license for driving a motorcycle in Mississippi, and we are not allowed to get on a motorcycle to give a road test," he stated.

The license fee is $5 and the license is valid for a period of two years.

For the benefit of persons who cannot come on Tuesdays or those in the northern sections of the county who may find it more convenient, Smith pointed out he is stationed at the Picayune City Hall from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

He also noted persons from Hancock County may apply for driver's licenses at the Highway Patrol's Gulfport office weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
